

425 Business

There's no shortage of quality young professionals on the Eastside. That fact was once again driven home to us earlier this year, as the reader-generated nominations for our annual 30 Under 30 honors began to pour in. Now, after much debate and discussion, we are excited to present to you some of the Eastside's best, brightest, and most ambitious individuals under the age of 30. Prepare to be inspired.

30 UNDER 30: A-F

Jacquelynn Beckman, 26

Pastry chef, Trellis Restaurant

RESIDENCE

Lynnwood

EDUCATION

Orange Coast College, baking and pastry arts degree

FIRST JOB

Cake decorator

BEST PIECE OF ADVICE

"Happiness and joy is the true measure of success." — Jacquelynn's mom

HOBBIES

Hiking, surfing, snowboarding, running — I would definitely say I'm an adrenaline junkie, but I also love to watch Netflix with my Siberian husky, Nyx.

APP MOST RECENTLY DOWNLOADED

ChefsFeed

READING

Tartine Bread by Chad Robertson

Jacquelynn Beckman's baking is arguably as delightful as her joyous personality. Beckman's laugh is infectious, and she tries not to take things too seriously.

In fact, it was the 26-year-old's love for all things joyful that inspired her to pursue a career as a pastry chef. "The whole reason I got into baking was because of the joy it brought my friends and family," said Beckman.

In addition to her knack for creating sugary confections, the whisk-wielding pastry chef also has a sense of humor. "True love," she said, "can be measured in the size of the cinnamon roll I make you." — MG

